Description

Several decades of determined campaigning by the local growers finally bore fruit in 1988 when Régnié was made the tenth 'Cru' growth of Beaujolais. The appellation covers 1500 acres of Gamay vines and it shares the same microclimate and characteristic granite subsoil as its immediate neighbours of Morgon to the north and Brouilly to the south. Maison Louis Latour selects only the highest quality fruit which have been grown on the best located sites which display the unique flavours of the individual Cru.

Wine tasting

- TASTING NOTE Our Régnié "La Roche" 2014 shows a nice ruby red colour. The nose is powerfull and floral with delicate notes of undergrowth and cinnamon. The mouth is ample and round and well-balanced with a ripe red fruits finish. A plaisant and gourmet wine.
- CELLARING POTENTIAL 2-3 years
- FOOD PAIRING Grilled meat - charcuterie - cheese
- SERVING TEMPERATURE 13-15°
