Description

'Clos des Toisièrese' used to be a small quarry. 'Toisières' is derived from the word 'toit' (roof), and refers to the huge flat stones coming from this quarry sometimes used as roofs. Maison Louis Latour has the monopoly on this climat situated on the higher south-east facing slopes in the pretty little village of Monthélie, hidden away between the vineyards of Meursault and Volnay. Despite its imposing neighbours, Monthélie produces highly aromatic, robust red wines such as this « Clos des Toisières ».

Wine tasting

- TASTING NOTE Bright garnet red this Monthelie has yellow plum, raisin and aniseed aromas. Well-balanced with mellow tannins in the mouth creating a very elegant wine.
- CELLARING POTENTIAL 5-6 years
- FOOD PAIRING Grilled meat - "coq au vin" - flash-fried steak - mature cheeses
- SERVING TEMPERATURE 15-17°
